ABOUT

THE JOY OF FLEXIBILITY

ROGER LIAO

The entire design concept of the exhibition hall perfectly aligns with the brand and product design language of Remode. Designer Roger Liao has created a modular installation for this exhibition, reinterpreting impressions of outdoor scenes and presenting an unexpected landscape terrace.

NANFANG STUDIO

Besides product designers, we also emphasized the industrial craft of wicker weaving. NANFANG STUDIO, with the brand concept of reform and continuity of folk weaving crafts," integrates traditional bamboo and rattan weaving techniques with modern technology to design special woven fabrics filled with modern aesthetics. On this basis, Nanfang uses the interaction between materials to break the limitations of traditional textiles, supporting the structure and function of the products to create uniquely beautiful home decor items.

QIU

The designer of the Beam Collection, QIU, has extended the concept in another metaphor. Inspired by architectural structures, QIU designed modular structures suitable for outdoor furniture to meet the needs of flexible extension use. The universal components and replaceable fabrics not only reduce maintenance difficulty but also provide possibilities for personalized needs and sustainable updates, achieving the product's "metabolism" and thereby extending the lifecycle of the furniture. The specific curvature of the Beam Collection runs through the entire product line, redefining the aesthetics of outdoor spaces and achieving a unified family language.

CB DESIGN LAB

To extend the theme of the joy of flexibility, the CB Design Lab of the outdoor dining serie Macan has also derived from this metaphor. The pure and essential, almost archaic forms of the collection reflect a reverse era of pomp and pure aestheticism. The MACAN collection brings design back to its pure meaning, offering sustainability, comfort, and visual pleasure.

BEAM COLLECTION

SOFA

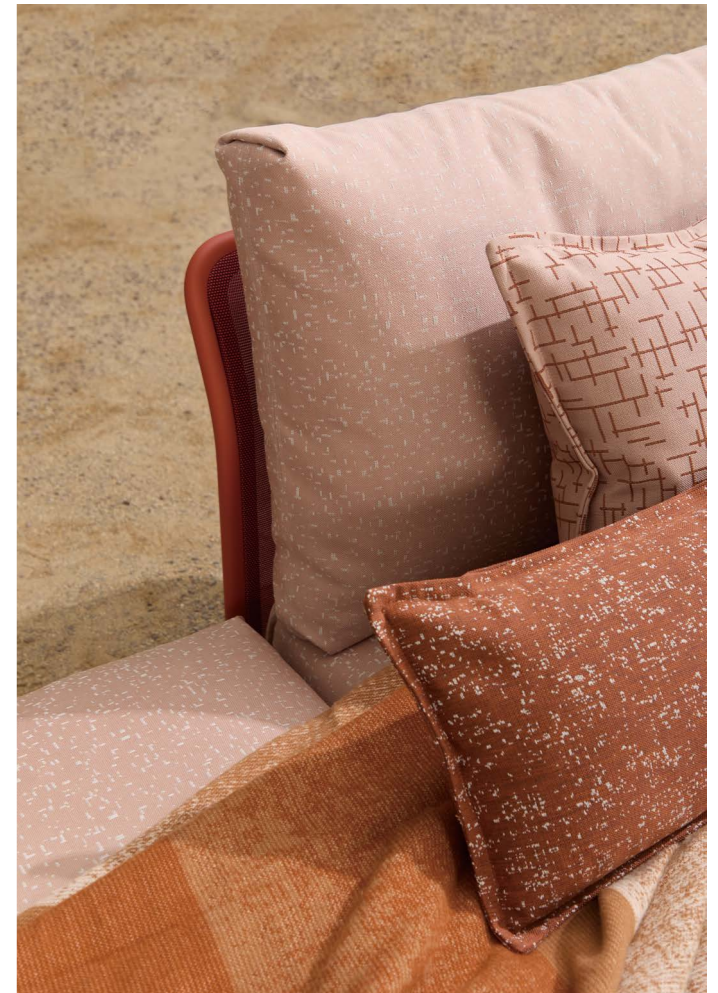

The sofa modules are linked by a “beam” and feature a multidimensional, expandable modular design. The resulting sofa island can be configured to fit various spaces and usage needs, and it can be flexibly reconfigured to adapt to future changes. The seat and backrest fabrics are easy to replace, further enhancing the product’s sustainability.

The sofa frame is made from cast aluminum, providing an ergonomic, sturdy, and reliable structure. The combination of elastic woven fabric and soft cushions offers users the best sitting experience. The fabric, supplied by the Italian company Limonta, ensures superior quality and high weather resistance, guaranteeing the product’s durability.

CANTILEVER UMBRELLA

The Cantilever structure uses a universal spring pin lock, and the quick-release mechanism simplifies the installation process, making the maintenance and replacement of the canopy and parts quick and easy. This further extends the product's lifespan. The quick-release mechanism also allows users to quickly change the canopy according to their preferences and scenarios throughout the product's lifecycle. Pressing the pedal on the base effortlessly rotates the umbrella to adjust to changes and shifts in sunlight.

CENTRAL POLE UMBRELLA

The upright umbrella continues the Beam series' sustainable philosophy of quick installation and interchangeable structures. Its minimalist appearance refreshes the functional structure of traditional outdoor umbrellas. The base can be quickly detached and reattached to adapt to sandy beaches or garden settings. Hooks hanging from the umbrella canopy meet the user's needs for hanging clothes, lights, and other items outdoors.

PANIER

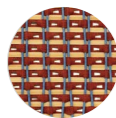

The lighting fixture innovatively uses woven ropes and fabrics, adding rich textures to the product. The replaceable fabrics offer users personalized options. The woven ropes can also be used to hang the light, effortlessly creating a comfortable and relaxed atmosphere.

The lampshade's woven fabric is designed by Nanfang Studio. The outdoor fabric's excellent light transmission, combined with laser-cutting technology, brings new creativity to traditional outdoor wicker. The trendy color combinations give a fresh look to traditional weaving techniques.
